Parkview Academy Profile

Schools Context

Parkview Academy provides for young people with SEN who have experienced difficulties in other educational settings. As a result of their previous experiences they have often become disengaged from the education system. This is likely to have impacted on the quality of family life which we recognise requires our understanding. Our alternative provision offers young people a different approach to learning, with a flexible outlook, designed around the young person's individual needs. Our young people's age range is from 7 to 19 years old.

The school is committed to a Careers program which includes Education as a vital means of giving all pupils the skills, knowledge and understanding to manage their own lifelong learning and career development. Careers Information, Advice, Guidance and Education (CIAGE) will both complement and integrate with Personal and Social Development and Citizenship courses.

Introduction

The Education Act 2011 places a statutory duty on maintained schools to secure access for pupils to independent and impartial career guidance that promotes the best interests of the pupil to whom it is given and includes information on all options available to them including apprenticeships and other work based learning.

Schools should ensure that all students are aware of out of school opportunities that could help them with their career aspirations, such as the National Citizen Service, work experience, apprenticeships and other voluntary and community activities.

Effective CIAGE at Parkview Academy is impartial and considers young people's abilities, needs and preferences. This service is available to our students across the school.

Purpose

Careers Education and Guidance has an important role to play in achieving the overall school aims. As part of students' career programs, it helps students to build their skills, knowledge and values required to prepare them for life in modern Britain. CIAGE will enable them to:

- Develop knowledge of themselves: strengths, weaknesses, personal qualities; and have a balanced view of their self-worth and potential;
- Be aware of education, training and career opportunities;
- Make informed choices about education, training and career progression;

- Develop attitudes of self-reliance and responsibility for their own decisions now and in the future;
- Set personal objectives and goals;
- Increase levels of attainment.

Aims and Objectives

The following summarizes the aims of Parkview Academy's CIAGE program.

- To introduce our young people to the world of work through career education, career fairs and interaction with employers.
- To help our young people develop career awareness and enable them to manage personal career development.
- To enable our young people to experience the world of work.
- To give all students face-to-face Career Advice and Guidance Interviews with an individual Action Plan.
- Advice on different career progression routes
- Assist students to identify and apply for apprenticeships
- Inform the EHC plan by listing the steps required to ensure a student is i) successful in their transition to higher/further education, training, employment. ii) a student's needs are acknowledged and catered for prior to their start date.
- Support EHC plans/outcomes to prepare students for adulthood
- To raise the career aspirations of students and broaden their employment horizons
- All students to receive careers education as set out within the careers education pathways and PSHE policy.
- Ensure Careers Education is embedded within all curriculum pathways.

National expectations

In order to provide effective IAG for the needs and circumstances of our students, face-to-face interviews with impartial advisers will be offered for those students to whom are able to effectively participate. In addition, students may visit potential colleges and employers to receive impartial advice and guidance on next steps.

The Education Act 2011 placed the duty to 'secure access to independent careers guidance' for their pupils and students upon schools (from September 2012 for pupils aged 14 to age 16), and then from September 2013 upon schools for pupils aged 13 – 18.

We are committed to meeting national and local expectations in relations to careers by:

- Securing impartial careers guidance for Y8 and above as required by the 2011 Education act.

Specifically, students need access to:

- Comprehensive and up to date information on the full range of options in education, training and work, accompanied by information on the progression opportunities that follow from each of those options;
- Timely and impartial advice and guidance;
- Programmes of careers education that equip them to make effective use of the information, advice and guidance provided and to develop their career management and employability skills.

The school is committed to ensuring that the advice learners receive is:

- Information on a range of education or training options, including apprenticeship and other vocational pathways where appropriate
- Impartial
- In the best interests of the learners
- Meets the needs of the learners

We are committed to ensure that the school continues to meet the requirements outlined in the Gatsby Benchmarks by being externally audited by COMPASS against the benchmarks. This enables our school to continually develop best practice and ensure continuous improvement. These benchmarks are:

Benchmark 1: A Stable Careers Programme

Benchmark 2: Learning from Career and Labour Market Information

Benchmark 3: Addressing the Needs of Each Pupil
